

Active Response

Bolster your defenses beyond foundational endpoint protection with endpoint threat detection and response.

McAfee

Description

Designed to monitor, control and alert when endpoints are compromised.

An endpoint detection and response tool for advanced threats.

Bolster your defenses beyond foundational endpoint protection with endpoint threat detection and response. McAfee Active Response is a leading innovation in finding and responding to advanced threats. As a key part of an integrated security architecture, it offers continuous visibility and powerful insights into your endpoints, so you can identify breaches faster and gain more control over the threat defense lifecycle. McAfee Active Response gives you the tools you need to correct security issues faster in the way that makes the most sense for your business. Key features include:

Collectors: Find and visualize data from systems.

Triggers and persistent collectors: Continuously monitor critical events or state change with one set of instructions.

Reactions: Get pre-configured and customizable actions when triggered, so you can target and eliminate threats.

Centralized management with McAfee ePolicy Orchestrator: Use a single console for comprehensive security management and automation.
